Aims and Scope

A bi-annual, interdisciplinary journal, Environment and Urbanization ASIA aims at two purposes: (i) to engage civil society, non-governmental organizations, researchers, academics, and policy-makers in thinking and writing about Asia's urban and environmental issues, and (ii) to improve and strengthen the knowledge base on the different facets of environment and urbanization, with cases and ground-level realities. The journal focuses on Asia but encourages articles on inter-regional comparison of experiences.

Environment and Urbanization ASIA is prepared by the National Institute of Urban Affairs (NIUA) and published by SAGE Publications India in New Delhi. Financial support from the Swedish International Development Cooperation Agency (SIDA) covers a part of the cost of its publication. It is a sister journal to Environment and Urbanization prepared by the International Institute for Environment and Development (IIED) and published by SAGE Ltd.
